Profile Synopsis

Dr. Nabamita Das is an Assistant Professor of Sociology at Presidency University, where she has taught since 2013. She received her PhD from the University of Birmingham and is a gold medallist from the University of Calcutta for her postgraduate degree. Her academic work moves through Gender and Sexuality Studies, Philosophy of the Everyday, Intimate Relations, Childhood Studies, and a sustained engagement with Rabindranath Thakur. If her scholarship asks how everyday life, intimacy, language, memory, habit, shape the worlds we inhabit, her performance practice asks the same questions in another register - through melody, rhythm, and shared listening. The scholarship of transmission is the binding thread between her performance and academic pursuits. She began learning Hindustani classical music at the age of five under Pandit Dilip Das. As the granddaughter of Bidit Lal Das, legendary folk singer and composer of songs such as 'Sadher Lau', 'Bhromor Koiyo Giya' and 'Morile Kandish Na', she grew up inside a living archive of Bengal/Bangladesh's folk and roots traditions. She later specialised in Rabindra Sangeet with a focus on Tappa-style singing under the tutelage of Nabanita Roy Choudhury. Nabamita is the lead singer, songwriter and composer of Borno Anonyo, an urban folk ensemble which documents, composes and performs music rooted in the histories of Bengal and its immersion in the world.
