CALL FOR APPLICATIONS

Ten-Day Workshop on Methodological Terrains in Social Sciences

27 November – 11 December 2026 | Hybrid Mode | 3rd Campus, Dowhill, Kurseong

BACKGROUND AND RATIONALE

Social science research in India continues to operate across heterogeneous methodological traditions. Quantitative inference, ethnographic observation, discourse analysis, visual methods, and systematic review techniques are rarely taught as a single coherent field. The workshop treats methodology as a set of terrains rather than a single toolkit.

OBJECTIVES

- Introduce principal stages and varieties of research design
- Examine major philosophical debates on research methods
- Survey distinct ethical frameworks governing research
- Provide working introductions to discourse analysis, statistics, ethnography, photography, PRISMA, and metadata practices
- Specify conditions for ethical use of generative AI as an assistive research tool
